

Explore the majestic Szechenyi Chain Bridge. Learn about its construction, the iconic stone lions, best viewpoints, and its role as the unifying symbol of Budapest.

At night, when the bridge is illuminated, it offers a particularly spectacular sight. The Chain Bridge is easily accessible by foot, bicycle, and public transportation. The nearest metro station is V&#246;r&#246;smarty ...

Designed by English engineer William Tierney Clark and built by Scottish engineer Adam Clark, it was the first permanent bridge across the Danube in Hungary. It was opened in 1849.

The Chain Bridge is the oldest bridge in Budapest and is the Danube's most renowned overpass. It took 20 years to build and was inaugurated in 1849.

The Sz&#233;chenyi Chain Bridge was inaugurated in 1849 and was the first permanent bridge to connect Buda and Pest. It was named after Count Istv&#225;n Sz&#233;chenyi, who was a prominent advocate for its ...

The picturesque historic stone bridge straddles the Danube between Sz&#233;chenyi Square on the Pest side and Clark &#193;d&#225;m Square in Buda. You can walk across it from Buda to Pest and back; ...

The Chain Bridge, also known as Szechenyi Lanchid, is an iconic symbol of Budapest, Hungary. This remarkable structure is not only a vital transportation link but also a testament to the city's rich history ...

The Sz&#233;chenyi Chain Bridge (Sz&#233;chenyi L&#225;nch&#237;d) was the very first permanent bridge connecting Buda and Pest, built between 1838 and 1849. It ...

The oldest and most famous of the bridges in Budapest, the Sz&#233;chenyi Chain Bridge (Sz&#233;chenyi L&#225;nch&#237;d), often called simply the Chain Bridge, was built in 1849, and is an eyebar chain ...

The Chain Bridge is one of the most beautiful and well-known landmarks in Budapest. Although the mere sight of Budapest's first permanent bridge over the Danube speaks for itself, it is well worth ...

Walking across the Sz&#233;chenyi Chain Bridge is more than just a crossing; it's a journey into the heart of Hungary's history. The bridge offers a unique vantage point to feel the pulse of ...

Web: <https://busydoniemiecwaldii.pl>